

Online Talk on Art As A Tool For Science

The Department of Mathematics, Kamala Nehru College, University of Delhi, under the aegis of Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), conducted an online talk titled “Art as a Tool for Science” on March 29, 2025. The session was open to all students of the college.

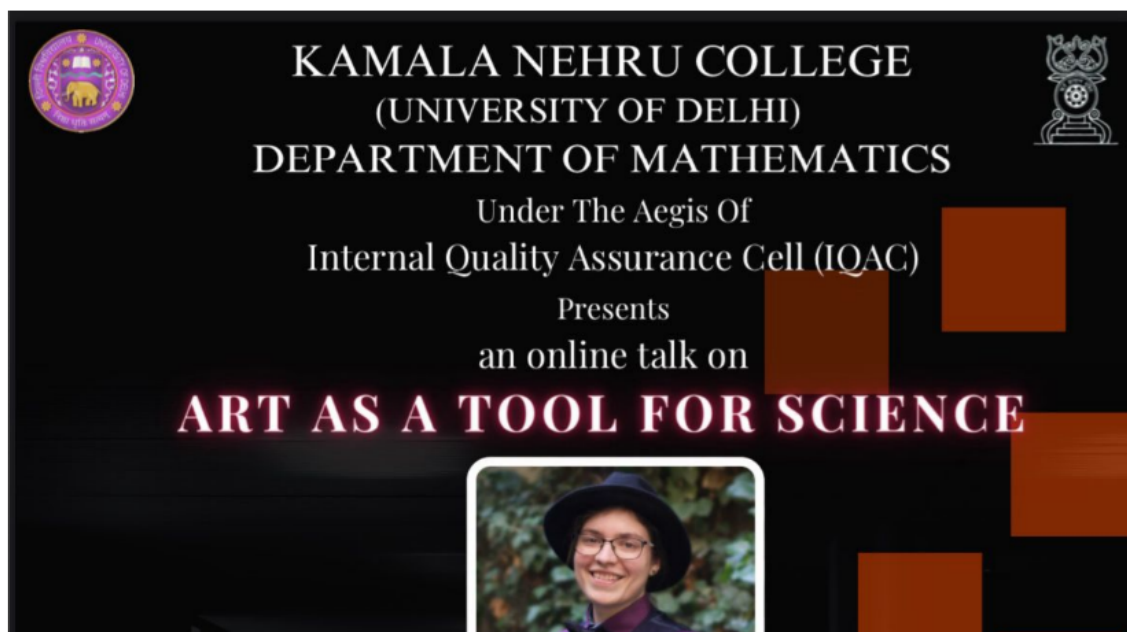

The speaker, Ms. Marlene Knoche, is a renowned artist, illustrator, and computer scientist. She is also the co-founder of Mathyear, a creative initiative that explores the intersections of mathematics through drawing challenges.

In her insightful presentation, Ms. Knoche demonstrated how art can be an effective medium for communicating complex scientific ideas, making them accessible to both specialized and general audiences. She shared several examples of her own work, including math-inspired illustrations, comics, and games, highlighting the creative intersection of art and science which captured the imagination of the participants.

The session was attended by more than 60 enthusiastic students and was seamlessly hosted by Ms. Yuvragyie, a first-year student of B.Sc. (Hons.) Mathematics.

Dr. Pooja, IQAC Coordinator, and Dr. Ankur Raj, Teacher Coordinator, expressed their sincere appreciation to the speaker for sharing her unique perspective and creative approach to science communication.

The event was highly appreciated by the participants and was considered a great success.
